Academic Warning Notice

Dear Mickey Mouse:

We regret to inform you that your recent WSU concurrent enrollment grade report indicates you no longer have a good university academic standing.

This means that you now have a cumulative (total) GPA (grade point average) of 1.5 with .5 minus points. Minus points are grade point deficits below the total required for a 2.00 or C average). Your academic standing is now academic warning. You may call the Continuing Education Advising Office at 801-626-7362 for assistance in better understanding your academic standing and how it impacts you.

Take advantage of a second chance to make some important choices to protect your future, because:

- If you earn a cumulative GPA below 2.00 (less than a C average) during your next semester of college work, you may experience the following difficulties:
 - ☞ receive no sponsorship to continue your concurrent enrollment program
 - ☞ receive a notice of WSU academic probation
 - ☞ receive a notice of academic suspension if your GPA remains low and your minus points increase
 - ☞ unable to maintain university scholarship monies after your first semester at WSU

Reconsider your class and study habits so that your future educational opportunities are not endangered. Remember, you demonstrated enough interest and ability to be sponsored by your teacher for concurrent enrollment in the first place, you can do this.

Talk with your friends, counselor, teacher or parents/guardian about how you can improve your future class performance. Your WSU grade report is a permanent record that will follow you wherever you decide to attend college, so let it make you look good!
